Unfortunately, this sacrifice of tribal society did not get the place it should get in history. Today the country is filling that gap. The past, history, present and future of India is not complete without tribal society.

Forest areas are also increasing in the country, forest wealth is also being protected. Along with this, tribal areas are also connecting with Digital India. Along with traditional skills, tribal youth also got opportunities for modern education. Eklavya tribal schools are also being opened for this.
