Editorial

➔ Showing momentum

Persistent inflation alongside moderate growth remains a challenge

➔ Scapegoating

Pakistan should not blame Afghan govt for its ills and evils

The editorial is about Pakistan interior ministry deadline for illegal migrants to leave country by 31st October. Pakistan though told that the deportation of illegal migrants were not aimed to any particular community but Afghan migrants seems to be most affected. Pakistan a month ago was home of 1.7 million Afghans. Many fled away Afghanistan due to deteriorating condition, they faced. At least 6 lakh fled when Taliban captured. Many others moved during Soviet occupation of Afghanistan.

Pakistan has set up many deportation centers where illegal migrants will be put and later deported.

Pakistan argument was that illegal migrants were security concerns to the country. "There have been 24 suicide attacks in the country out of which 14 were carried out by Afghans" Pakistan Interior Minister Sarfraz Bugti said on October 3. Apart from this they also weaken already bad economy.

The editorial says that Pakistan is just scapegoating over Afghans over failure of its own policies
