Supreme Court grants Kejriwal interim bail in excise policy case

The Supreme Court on Friday granted interim bail to Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal in Delhi Excise Policy Case in money laundering charges linked to Delhi Excise Policy case .

However Mr Kejriwal will be in jail as he is in wr CBI remand in same case till 25 July .

CBI had arrested him under Prevention of Corruption Act on June 25 .

But left the call on whether he should step down as Chief Minister on Delhi CM himself .

The two judge bench of Justice Sanjeev Khanna and Justice Dipankar Datta further asked a larger bench to frame questions and decide bail conditions that could be imposed by courts in future cases , like that of Mr Arvind Kejriwal , a sitting CM in custody and facing money laundering charges .

The ED cannot make arrests a person under PMLA on a whim , says SC

Supreme Court on Friday held that the power to arrest under Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) can not be exercised on the “ whims and fancies “ of the officers of Enforcement Directorate (ED).

The court even wondered whether if the ED even had a consistent , uniform and “ one rule for all “policy on when they should arrest people .

Under PMLA an ED officer can arrest a person if they have reason to believe , based on material in their possession in whether the person is guilty .

The court said that an officer’s “ reason to believe “ that a person was guilty and deserved arrest should not be based on mere suspicion .

The bench observed that the power to arrest given to ED officers under section 19 (1) , of the PMLA was drastic and ran the risk of violating right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 of the constitution .

Stay in bail should only be granted in rare cases : SC

The Supreme Court on Thursday said that an inclination seen among higher courts to stall bail creates a real and present danger to rights of personal liberty and due process .

A bench of Justice AS Oka and Justice Ujjayal Nikam said that “ stay on bail should not be granted except in very rare and exceptional cases .

Stay of bail order should be given only if there is apparent pervasivity or if the provision of law mandating the satisfaction of certain special condition were not satisfied or if the person is a terrorist . “ Justice Oka said adding that High Court can not pass them mechanically .

The court was hearing a appeal filed by Parvinder Khurana, an accusses in money laundering case , whose bail was stayed by Delhi High court for over a year .

A bench of Justice A S Oka and
